

Don Campbell

Certified Executive Coach

Don Campbell is a Certified Executive Coach who believes each of us are the "CEO's" of our own lives. Don has clients in five countries and coaches near the shores of Okanagan Lake. He is living his passion.

As international coach, author and facilitator, Don delights in helping his clients discover their potential through the use of powerful introspective processes and tools. Don's twenty-eight years with Telus as technical advisor and National Account Manager in Canada, the USA and the UK, brings a global understanding and business acumen that richly benefit his clients.

He has held volunteer positions with the Crisis Centre and the Red Cross, and has been a foster parent of twenty-two children. Don has served Rotary International for ten years with Rotary's Vocational Service and its focus on youth. He is a founding member of International Coach Federation - Okanagan Chapter and is a strong supporter of the coaching profession and community.

Don has developed his awareness of the potential of the human spirit, through the facilitation of several personal development workshops and leadership programs. This personal development gives his clients a unique advantage by means of his insights, compassion and constructive feedback.

Don's formal training in Coaching is from Royal Roads University, where he is accredited as a Certified Executive Coach (CEC). He believes that each of us is the CEO of our own life, and he invites you to "lean into it!" in order to experience the best that life has to offer.

Don has two grown children and enjoys hiking and spending time near the shores of Okanagan Lake.

"I was lost in a Dark forest, with Don I had someone there with me, not to take me by the hand and lead me out, but rather to stand with me and hold the lantern to show the way..."

- Jeff Hay
